AFFAIRS IN FRANCE.

The Sympathy With Poland—The Debate in the French Senate—Pamphlets on Mexico and America.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PARIS, Friday, March 20, 1863.

The hearts of the French people are ready to burst with emotion at the events in Poland. The glorious speeches of M. BONJEAN, the Prince PONIATOWSKI, the Count WALEWSKA and the Prince NAPOLEON in the French Senate, yesterday and the day before, added more fuel to the flame, and, to-day, the whole nation is ready to march to the rescue of the struggling "France of the North." The four orators mentioned above recapitulated the crimes of Russia, and the sufferings and heroism of Poland in an eloquence of language which will ring through Europe like the awakening of a new era for the suffering nationalities. Each of these orators will approve the Government in demanding of Russia the independence of Poland, and of backing up the demand with a declaration of war in the event of a refusal, even if all Europe were to be set in flames by the event. The Viscount DE LAGUERONNIERE, who made the second speech, took middle ground, and counseled moderation and a trust in diplomacy, while the Marquis DE LAROCHEJAQUELIN (a clerical of the most reactionary type,) undertook the ungrateful task of defending Russia and of maligning the revolution. But when he ventured to declare that the present movement in Poland was the work of MAZZINI and the Socialists, and that the French Government had in its possession a proof of the fact, he was met by an indignant and energetic exclamation from Count WALEWSKA of "It is false!" backed up by the Prince NAPOLEON, who cried out "Good, Good!" with an addition very much like "Hit him again in the same place!" The fact is the young Dictator, LANGIEWICZ, has taken pains to eliminate from the movement every element which would imply that it had anything to do with a general European revolution, or that it was anything else than a local question between Poland and her Russian masters. Thus he refused the proffered aid of GARIBALDI, and he also sent back to his home at Paris, a distinguished Polish General, who desired to take a command, but who, unfortunately, was known to sympathize with the advanced revolutionary party. Thus LANGIEWICZ conciliates both extremes, for, having been a revolutionist himself, while under the protection of GARIBALDI, he cannot, by these measures of exigency, be estranged from that party. M. BILLAULT, the Minister of the Government, declared that, notwithstanding the lively sympathies of the Government and people of France for Poland, they could not interfere to the extent of a war with Russia, and hoped the Senate would vote the "order of the day," which it did by 109 to 17. This vote leaves the Government free to act as it pleases, but with the understanding, however, that it is to obtain by negotiation with Russia an amelioration in the condition of Poland.

During the course of the debate in the Senate, an instructive incident in regard to Mexico was produced. The Marquis DE LA ROCHEJAQUELIN was declaiming against going to war for Poland; France had carried her arms into the Crimea, into Italy, into China, Cochin China and Syria, but she could not engage in this new enterprise. He continued thus:

"We have been drawn innocently, and without suspecting it, into Mexico. We have sent there about 50,000 men and the entire navy of France. [Objections.] You say 34,000 men, and I am willing to accept that number. We have, therefore, 34,000 men in Mexico."

A MEMBER—That is already too many.

MARQUIS DE LA ROCHEJAQUELIN—I do not find that we have sent there too many men. But with such an enterprise on our hands, there are too many men engaged to commence a new one of such gigantic proportions as this one will be. I say, therefore, (and the Senate will comprehend my idea,) that I approve entirely the sending of troops to Mexico. We were engaged, we were obliged not to abandon the enterprise; in fine, we were engaged against our desire in an unfortunate affair.

PROCUREUR-GENERAL DUPIN—It is for that reason that we must not engage ourselves at random elsewhere, because after ward we are no longer masters of the consequences. Principiis obsta.

MARQUIS DE LA ROCHEJAQUELIN—Exactly, and to speak like the honorable M. DUPIN: Principiis obsta, sero medicina paratur. [Laugh.] It is for that that you hear me speak as I do. Do you desire that we should make war? Oh! if we were forced to it, assuredly every man in France would fly to arms if the honor and the interest of the country were at stake; but for a foreign people, however much sympathy we may have for them, we ought first to think of ourselves. I demand of our Admirals, could we engage in any sort of a European war without having our fleets at our disposition? Have we them at this moment? (General rumor.)

FIRST PRESIDENT DE ROGER—These are things that ought not to be said.

BARON HAUSSEMAN—We can always have men, fleets and money when the interest or honor of France is concerned.

MARQUIS DE LA ROCHEJAQUELIN—I say that in the situation where we now are we cannot be too prudent, and we ought, if for no other reason than our menaced finances, avoid every engagement foreign to us, &c.

These observations of Senators when off their guard are both curious and instructive. The number of men sent out to Mexico up to this time for all the services is, according to the Government people themselves, about 51,000. In the discussion on Mexico a few weeks ago, the Government orators admitted over 40,000 men, but since then some sort of change in official tactics has taken place, for when M. DE LA ROCHEJAQUELEIN states the correct number, M. FOULD and other members of the Government cry out, "No, it is 34,000!" And when the speaker says that the whole navy of France is absent in Mexico another member in the secrets of the Government, HON. M. DE ROGER, cries out, "Those are things which ought not to be published to the world!" We are thus driven to the conclusion that hereafter the cost in men and money of the unpopular and "unfortunate" Mexican expedition is to be kept a secret from the public.

The only French journal which has published the report of the Committee of the American Senate on foreign mediation, is the France, one of the journals which is most hostile to the Union. There was no order on the subject, and this abstention is due to the general belief that the Emperor feels that he has made a mistake in America, and would be wounded at seeing too much prominence given to the affair. Both His Majesty's attempts at an intervention were, as I told you at the time, and as recent developments have amply confirmed, based upon the supposed invitation of the Democratic party of the North. Now, however, that the patriotic men of this party are rejecting the proffered mediation, all parties in this country seem anxious to let the matter drop with as little noise as possible. This does not prevent the hostile Press, however, from continuing their misrepresentations on the progress of events in the United States; but the few lines they publish are generally on the supposed peace tendencies in the North, and are evidently designed to keep before the French people the idea that the war is soon to cease.

Many new pamphlets are out as well on Mexico as on Poland, and M. LABOULAYE, Professor at the College of France, a gentleman whose Monday lectures at the College are attended by a large number of American gentlemen and ladies, and whose ardent defence of the course of the Union will be gratefully remembered by our countrymen, has just published a book of six hundred pages on the United States, entitled Paris in America, over the fictitious signature of "Dr. Lefevre." The work is a sarcastic, witty, and philosophic criticism on French political and social life as compared to that of the United States, and deals such hard blows at certain high dignitaries in France, that one is astonished at not seeing the book seized by the police. I send you a copy of this important and most entertaining book, and hope to see it republished in English, for it is eminently worthy of translation, MALAKOFF.

AMERICAN AFFAIRS IN ENGLAND.

DEPREDATIONS OF THE ALABAMA.

PARTICULARS OF THE DESTRUCTION OF THE GOLDEN EAGLE, SCHOONER PALMETTO AND THE OLIVE JANE.

Correspondence of the Shipping Gazette.

SOUTHAMPTON, Friday, March 20.

About half-past twelve o'clock this morning, a Cowes pilot-boat arrived in the river with thirty-seven men and officers of the American ships Golden Eagle, Olive Jane, and the schooner Palmetto, which had been captured and burned by the Confederate steamer Alabama, Capt. SEMMES.

The officers and crews of the said ships were taken from on board the American ship Washington, by the pilot-boat, about thirty miles south of the Isle of Wight, and were landed here, and taken charge of by the United States Consul of this port, Capt. BRITTON, who has kindly furnished copies of the following reports as lodged with him by Capts. SWIFT, KALLOCK and SELAND:

STATEMENT OF CAPT. SWIFT, OF THE SHIP GOLDEN EAGLE, CAPTURED AND BURNED IN LAT. 29° 17′ N., LON. 45° 15′ W.:

The Golden Eagle was on her passage from Howland's Island for New-Orleans, with a full cargo of guano, about 1,200 tons. At 10 A. M. on the 21st ult., the Golden Eagle, on the starboard tack by the wind, saw a sail off the port bow standing toward us by the wind. At 11 A. M. spoke with the bark Olive Jane, of Boston, for New-York. At 11 A. M. made the sail on the port bow to be a gunboat; saw her smoke-pipe, distance some six miles, soon after. The steamer fired two blank guns, the Confederate flag at her peak, and tacked ship heading as ourselves, the wind being very light at this time, the ship going about four miles per hour. The steamer soon took in sail, and steamed directly for my ship. Soon after meridian she fired a shot at us, falling short of the ship. About 1:15 P. M. the steamer fired again, the shot passing very close ahead of the ship. About 1:30 P. M., the Alabama, preparing to give us another shot, we brought the maintopsail to the mast; an armed boat's crew boarded, and took possession of my ship. The Alabama now started in pursuit of the Olive Jane, now distant some 10 miles; came up with, took, and set fire to the bark about 4 P. M. At 6 P. M. the Alabama returned to my ship, and I was ordered on board, with all of the ship's papers. After examination of myself and papers by Capt. SEMMES, he gave his First Lieutenant orders for the plunder and burning of my ship. They took all the ship's papers and logbook, and whatever they wanted from the ship, also all my private property, except a few of my clothes, sup as chronometer, two sextants, glasses, charts, books—in fact, all of my nautical instruments were taken from me. My officers and crew were allowed to take one small clothes' bag with them. On my arrival on board the Alabama, my officers and crew were put in irons, and remained on deck while on board. My baggage, and that of my officers and crew, was searched, and what little money I had with me, $187, taken from me. I was allowed to mess and sleep with the petty officers, in the steerage; by them I was treated very courteously. At 9 P. M. the Golden Eagle was set on fire, and at 8 A. M., on Feb. 22, she went down. The steamer lay near the burning ship all night. On the 27th, the Alabama gave chase to a ship; after firing two blank guns and one shot the ship hove to. An armed boat's crew went on board and took possession of the ship, which proved to be the ship Washington, of New-York, from Callao for Antwerp, Capt. WHITE came on board the Alabama. After an examination of his papers, and ascertaining the fact that, as his cargo was English property, they dared not burn his ship, Capt. WHITE was compelled to give a ransom bond of $50,000, and take all of the prisoners from the Alabama—30 all told. I was on board the Alabama six days. Two of my crew joined the pirate and remained on board.

Late Master of the ship Golden Eagle.

STATEMENT OF CAPT. LELAND, OF THE SCHOONER PALMETTO, ON FEB. 3, IN LATITUDE 27° 2′, LONGITUDE 66° 9′.

The Palmetto was on her voyage from New-York for Porto Rico. At 1 P. M., made a sail bearing southwest. I was steering at that time W. S. W., with the wind to the southward. At about 1:30 P. M., I saw that she was a gunboat making directly for us. At 2 P. M., saw her set United States colors and immediately fire a gun, and then set her Confederate flag. I then hove to. The steamer sent an armed crew on board, and took charge of my vessel, and ordered me to take all of my ship's papers, and go on board of the Alabama to be examined by Capt. SEMMES, and after Capt. SEMMES had examined all my papers, he gave orders to the First Lieutenant to take out what provisions would be necessary, and then to set fire to the vessel. And in the meantime they allowed me to take one small trunk full of my clothes, and each of my crew a clothes-bag of clothes, and to return on board of the Alabama. When we got on board, took away my mate and crew in irons, and ordered me to mess in the steerage with the petty officers. The officers of the Alabama took all of my nautical instruments, such as chronometer, quadrants, glasses, charts, &c. About 8 P. M., after they had taken all they wanted from the vessel, they set fire to her. The Alabama then went on her way, spoke and boarded a number of foreign vessels, and on the 21st February fell in with and captured two American vessels, the ship Golden Eagle, of New-Bedford, and the bark Olive Jane, of Boston. They were both burnt. On the 27th February the Alabama gave chase to a ship, which proved to be the ship Washington, of New-York, from Chincha Islands, bound to Antwerp. At 3 P. M. the Alabama fired two guns. The ship not heaving to they fired a shot, which came close to the ship. The ship hove to and was boarded by a boat from the Alabama. The Captain came on board, and was obliged to give a ransom bond of $50,000 and to take on board all of the Alabama's prisoners, including my crew and the crew of the two vessels above-mentioned. We were all transferred on board the ship Washington, where we were kindly received by the Captain.

Late Master of the schooner Palmetto.

REPORT OF THE CAPTURE AND BURNING OF THE BARK OLIVE JANE, OF BOSTON, ROBERT KALLOCK, MASTER, BY THE PIRATICAL STEAMER ALABAMA, FEB. 21, 1863, LAT. 29° 17′, LONG. 45° 30′.

The Olive Jane was on her way from Bordeaux for New-York, with 130 tons of French cargo on board. At 11 A. M. saw a sail to the northwest, steering direct for us. At the same time spoke ship Golden Eagle, of New-Bedford, from Howland's Island, bound to Cork. About 12 (noon) saw a sail in sight, a steamship, with the Confederate flag at her peak. In a few moments saw her fire guns to heave the ship to. She then got up steam, and took in her sail, and steamed direct for the ship; the wind being very light she soon gained up with the ship. About 2 P. M. saw them board the ship, and then square away, and made all sail, steering direct for my vessel, the wind being so very light that I could use no resistance, but kept on my course. At 3 P. M. the Alabama commenced to fire blank guns, and in a short time came up alongside of us, and sent an armed crew on board and took charge of my ship, and ordered me to take all my ship's papers and to repair on board the Alabama to be examined by Capt. SEMMES, and after he had examined my papers he told me that it would be better for the Confederate Government to pay for what French goods I had on board than for him not to burn my bark. He then gave orders to the First Lieutenant for the plunder and burning of my ship, and to allow me 15 minutes to go on board and get one small trunk full of my clothes, and to allow my officers and crew to take with them one bag of clothes each, and to be sure we took nothing more. The officers of the Alabama took all my nautical instruments, such as my barometer, chronometer, sextants, glasses and all my books, charts, and papers and ensign. They plundered the cabin of such things as they wanted, then immediately set fire to the vessel. When we got on board the Alabama the officers and crew were all put in irons and kept on deck during our stay on board. I was conducted down into the steerage, where they searched my person, and took what money I had about me. I was then permitted to mess and sleep with the petty officers, where my accommodations were very limited. About 6 P. M. they brought Capt. SWIFT, who was treated the same as myself. We were on board the Alabama six days. On the 27th February the Alabama gave chase to a ship, which proved to be the ship Washington, of New-York, from Callao, bound for Antwerp. About 3 P. M. they came up within gunshot of the ship, and fired two blanks. The ship not heaving to, they fired a shot, which came very near to the ship, which then hove to and was boarded by an armed crew from the Alabama. The Captain came on board and was obliged to give a ransom bond of $50,000, and to take on board all the Alabama's prisoners, including my crew, the crews of the Golden Eagle and schooner Palmetto. We were then all compelled to sign a parole, and then all transferred to the ship Washington, where we received a hearty welcome from Capt. WHITE.

(Signed) ROBERT KALLOCK,
Late Master of the bark Olive Jane.

ANOTHER VESSEL OVERHAULED.

From the Western Mercury.

Capt. KNOWLES, the commander of the ship Glendoveer, which had arrived from Foochoo, reports that on the 28th February, in longitude 37°, latitude 30°, he was pursued and overhauled by the Alabama. Capt. KNOWLES remained several hours in company with the Alabama, and dined with Capt. SEMMES, who liberally supplied the Glendoveer with flour and provisions. Two Englishmen, named GEORGE HARWOOD and JAMES M'FEGAN, of the crew of the Alabama, demanded their discharge from her, their term of service having expired, and the same was granted. They then went on board the Glendoveer as passengers for England, and landed at Plymouth on her arrival. The crew of the Alabama are all in good spirits, and each seaman's prize-money amounts to £2,800. Capt. SEMMES reported having destroyed thirty-eight American ships to that date.

THE CONFEDERATE LOAN.

From the Times' City Article of the 23d.

"The demand for money at the Bank and in the open market was very active on Saturday, chiefly in consequence of the large amount locked up in the shapes of deposits upon the Confederate loan. The Confederate loan touched 5 per cent. premium in the morning, then it relapsed during a short period to 4 per cent. premium, and closed at 4⅜ to 4⅝ premium. The aggregate of the subscriptions in London, Liverpool, Paris, Frankfort and Amsterdam is about fifteen millions."

THE OPINION OF MESSRS. CAIRNS AND COTTON.

From the Times.

As some doubt seems to exist with regard to the legality of the operation, the following queries, submitted to Sir HUGH CAIRNS, Q. C., and Mr. COTTON, and their opinion upon them, are of considerable interest to those who are desirous of sending in applications:

QUERIES.

1. Whether they (the contractors) could advertise the loan as a loan to the Confederate States upon bonds granted by them, the amount of which is to be paid to the authorities of the Confederate States, or if you think that there would be illegality in such a proceeding, then—

2. Whether there is any legal objection to the offer by the contractors to the British public of a portion of the bonds in question, at a price and on terms to be stated in the prospectus.

3. If you think the first proposition to be open to legal objection, do you consider that the persons engaged in it would be open to any, and if any, what proceedings?

OPINION.

(1 and 3.) We are of opinion that it will not be a violation of any law of this country, or of any principle of international law, to advertise the loan in this country as a loan to the Confederate States, upon bonds, the amount of which is payable by those States.

2. We are of opinion that there is not any legal objection to the contractors offering the bonds for sale in England to the public, at a price and on the terms to be stated in a prospectus.

Though our opinion is that there is no illegality in either of the courses suggested, we think that, as a matter of discretion, it will be better to adopt the latter alternative.

HENRY COTTON.

A BLOCKADE RUNNER.

From the London News, March 19.

Yesterday, the schooner Fanny Lewis, Capt. LEWIS, arrived in the Mersey, from Wilmington, North Carolina, with a cargo of cotton and spirits of turpentine. After leaving Wilmington, the Fanny Lewis was chased for sixteen hours by a Federal man-of-war.

THE POLISH REVOLUTION.

The London Times considers the struggle virtually at an end, but the allied Powers are justified in requiring that Poland shall have all that was guaranteed to her by the Treaty of Vienna; a wise and generous policy would grant her much more.

The Morning Post understands the Cabinet of Vienna have resolved to place LANGIEWICZ on parole, and to assign some Austrian town as his place of residence. The large body of regulars who have crossed the frontier from Poland are placed under surveillance, and are supplied with the necessary rations by the Austrian Government.

The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says it was rumored that, besides an amnesty, the Czar has telegraphed to the Emperor NAPOLEON that he will give Poland her autonomy and a liberal constitution.

SEC. 19. A fee of twenty cents will be charged for each permit granted for purposes of trade under these regulations; and, in addition thereto, the following fees shall be collected, viz.: For a permit to purchase or sell cotton or tobacco within any place or section in a State heretofore declared in insurrection, commercial intercourse with which has been permitted by the Secretary of the Treasury, under the license of the President as aforesaid, and to transport the same therefrom to any place in the loyal States, fifteen dollars per bale of cotton, and two dollars per hogshead of tobacco; and for a permit to transport any other goods and chattels, wares and merchandise, designed for sale, except supplies for officers and soldiers shipped by sutlers, to or from any such place or section in an insurrectionary State, five per centum upon the sworn invoice value thereof at the place of shipment.

SEC. 10. Every officer authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury to grant permits under these regulations shall keep in his office a record of all his transactions under such authority, and especially he shall keep a record of every permit granted by him, showing the names of the owner, shipper, and consignee, the places from and to which such transportation is permitted, the character and invoice value of the merchandise permitted to be transported, and the fees received therefor, an abstract statement of which, together with the names and compensation of all aids to the revenue reporting to him, shall be given to the proper supervising special agent of the Treasury Department on the first of every month.

[SEC. 11. Provides that no permit shall be granted to trade as aforesaid except to those who will make affidavit to their loyalty.]

SEC. 12. Collectors or surveyors of customs, before granting clearances, may require bond, with reasonable surety, in such sum as they shall think necessary, to protect the public interests, conditioned that there shall be no violation of the terms or spirit of the clearance, or of the averments of the affidavit upon which the same is granted.

SEC. 13. No permit shall be granted to ship intoxicating drinks, or other thing prohibited by the military authorities, into territory occupied by the military forces of the United States, except upon the written request of the commander of the department in which such territory is embraced, or of some person duly authorized by him to make such request.

SEC. 14. SEC. 15. No vessel, boat, or other vehicle used for transportation from any place in the loyal States, shall carry goods, wares, or merchandise, into any place, section, or State, restricted as aforesaid, without the permit of a duly authorized officer of the Treasury Department, application for which permit may be made to such authorized officer near the point of destination as may suit the convenience of the shipper.

SEC. 16. No vessel, boat, or other vehicle used for transportation shall put off any goods, wares, or merchandise, at any place other than that named in the permit as the place of destination.

SEC. 17. Before any boat or vessel running on any of the Western waters south of Louisville or St. Louis, or other waters within or adjacent to any State or section, commercial intercourse with which now is or may hereafter be restricted as aforesaid, shall depart from any port where there is a Collector or Surveyor of Customs, there shall be exhibited to the Collector or Surveyor, or such other officer as may be authorized to act in his stead, a true manifest of its entire cargo and a clearance obtained to proceed on its voyage; and when freights are received on board where there is no Collector or Surveyor, as hereinafter provided in Section 18, then the same exhibit shall be made and clearance obtained at the first port to be passed where there is such an officer, and such vessel or boat shall be reported and the manifest of its cargo exhibited to the Collector or Surveyor of every port to be passed on the trip where there is such an officer; but no new clearance shall be necessary, unless additional freights shall have been taken on board after the last clearance. Immediately on arriving at the port of final destination, and before discharging any part of its cargo, the manifest shall be exhibited to the surveyor of such port, or other officer authorized to act in his stead, whose approval for landing the cargo shall be indorsed on the manifest before any part thereof shall be discharged; and the clearance and shipping permits of all such vessels and boats shall be exhibited to the officer in command of any naval vessel or military post whenever such officer may require it.

SEC. 18. To facilitate trade and guard against improper transportation, "aids to the revenue" will be appointed from time to time, on cars, vessels and boats, when desired by owners, agents, or masters thereof, which aids will have free carriage on the respective cars, vessels and boats on which they are placed, and will allow proper way freights to be taken on board without permit, keeping a statement thereof, and reporting the same to the first officer to be passed on the trip who is authorized to grant the permit desired, from whom a permit therefor must be obtained, or the goods shall be returned to the shipper under his direction. No permit will be granted for transportation into or within any insurrectionary State or district, except on cars, vessels and boats carrying such aids.

SEC. 19. Supervising special agents of the Treasury Department will be appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury to supervise within designated limits the execution of these regulations, and to make such local rules and restrictions, not inconsistent with them, as may be proper for that purpose, and to change the same from time to time, and temporarily suspend or qualify the authority to grant permits, as the public interests may require, subject to the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury; and all permits and clearances authorized under these regulations will be granted only in compliance with such local rules and restrictions as may be approved as aforesaid.

SEC. 20. Boards of trade will be appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury, at such places as he may think necessary, to aid in the due enforcement of these regulations, and in properly conducting such commercial intercourse between the inhabitants of States declared in insurrection and the citizens of other States and other parts of the United States, as may be permitted under the license of the President.

SEC. 21. All vessels, boats, and other vehicles used for transportation, violating any of the above regulations, or any of the local rules and restrictions made by a supervising special agent, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, and all cotton, tobacco, or other merchandise shipped, or transported, or purchased, or sold in violation thereof will be forfeited to the United States. If any false statement be made or deception practiced in obtaining a permit, such permit and all others connected therewith or affected thereby will be absolutely void, and all merchandise shipped under them shall be forfeited to the United States. In all cases of forfeiture, as aforesaid, immediate seizure will be made and proceedings instituted promptly for condemnation. The attention of all officers of the Government, common carriers, shippers, consignees, owners, masters, agents, drivers, and other persons connected with the transportation of merchandise, or trading therein, is particularly directed to the acts of July 13, 1861, and May 20, 1862, above referred to, and March 12, 1863, and these regulations for executing the same.

SEC. 22. Transportation of supplies belonging to or contracted for by the United States, designed for the military or naval forces thereof, and moving under military or naval orders, is excepted from the effect of these regulations; but this exception does not extend to sutlers' goods or others designed for sale at military posts or camps.

SEC. 23. When any collector, surveyor, special agent, or board of trade, charged with the execution of these regulations and the laws authorizing them, shall find within his or their proper limits any goods, wares, or merchandise, which, in his or their opinion, are in danger of being transported to insurgents, he or they may require the owner or holder thereof to give reasonable security that they shall not be transported to any place under insurrectionary control, and shall not in any way be used to give aid or encouragement to the insurgents.

If the required security be not given, such officer or officers shall promptly state the facts to the United States Marshal for the district within which such goods are situated, or, if beyond the jurisdiction of a United States Marshal, then to the commander of the nearest military post, whose duty it shall be to take possession thereof, and hold them for safe-keeping, reporting the facts promptly to the Secretary of the Treasury, and awaiting instructions.

SEC. 24. Where ports heretofore blockaded have been opened by the proclamation of the President, licenses will be granted by United States Consuls, on application by the proper parties, to vessels clearing from foreign ports to the ports so opened, upon satisfactory evidence that the vessel so licensed will convey no person, property, or information thereof, either to or from such ports of war, which license shall be shown to the Collector of the port to which the vessel is bound, and, if required, to any officer in charge of the blockade. And on leaving any port so opened, the vessel must have a clearance from the Collector, according to law, showing no violation of the conditions of such license. Any violation of the conditions will involve the forfeiture and condemnation of the vessel and cargo, and the exclusion of all parties concerned from entering the United States for any purpose during the war.

SEC. 25. United States vessels clearing from domestic ports to any of the ports so opened will apply to the Custom-house officers of the proper ports, in the usual manner, for licenses or clearances under the regulations heretofore established.

SEC. 26. These regulations shall supersede those of Aug. 28, 1862, and all others conflicting herewith, affecting commercial intercourse with insurrectionary States, and no permits will be hereafter granted by any officer of the Treasury Department, except in pursuance hereof, and of the local rules and restrictions aforesaid, and by virtue of authority hereafter given by the Secretary of the Treasury.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

We have no definite news regarding the demonstration against Charleston, said by the rebels to have commenced on Friday last. Dispatches were received in this City from Fortress Monroe yesterday, announcing the reception of Charleston papers—no date given—which acknowledge an attack by our land and naval forces, but contain nothing indicating the progress made. A dispatch from Charleston, however, dated the 2d, which we find in the Richmond Examiner of Saturday, states that there were no signs at the time of the expected attack, and that there had been no landing in force on any of the islands below—the skirmish on Seabrook's Island having been with a party from a gunboat. The dispatch published in the TIMES yesterday, stated that a landing had been effected on Seabrook or John's Island; but the Examiner's dispatches throw doubt upon the report. Seabrook Island is at the mouth of North Edisto River, about twenty miles south of Charleston. John's Island adjoins it toward Charleston.

By the prize steamship Aries, which touched at this port yesterday on her way to Boston, we receive our correspondence from port Royal to the evening of the 30th ult. At that time everything was ready for the expected movement on Charleston or Savannah. Provisions, ordnance stores, forage,—everything requisite was on board transports, which only waited the word to sail. One brigade of troops had already gone to a place of rendezvous convenient to the scene of operations, and most of the Monitors had followed, leaving only three at Port Royal. Admiral DUPONT had received from the North everything requisite to make the iron-clads thoroughly efficient, and the fullest confidence was felt in the result of the coming contest. The steamer Aries was captured by the gunboat Stettin, while trying to run into Bull's Bay.

We learn that official information has been received in Washington to the effect that the rebels have recently marched a large force to Washington, N. C., and that Gen. FOSTER was supposed to be engaged with them about the 31st ult. Our latest advices, direct from Newbern, stated that a descent of the rebels, under D. H. HILL, was expected at Washington, and that Gen. FOSTER was taking proper measures to meet them. The fact that none of the rebel papers recently received make mention of operations in North Carolina may be taken as an indication that they have not resulted favorably to the enemy.

A rebel dispatch from Vicksburgh, dated the 2d inst., says that our forces made a reconnoissance up the Yazoo on the day previous, and threw a few shells at Snicker's Bluff.

A number of rebel cavalrymen, who have recently deserted from WISE'S command, on the Yorktown Peninsula, bring a repetition of the report that the rebels will soon be compelled to evacuate Richmond on account of the scarcity of provisions.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

In the Assembly, yesterday, the New-York Tax Levy was favorably reported, read a third time and passed. The bill for the prevention of desertion and enticing away and harboring seamen, was favorably reported. The Senate resolution to amend the Constitution so as to provide for the appointment of five Commissioners of Appeals, was adopted. The resolution relating to the President's Emancipation Proclamation was referred to the Committee on Federal Relations. Nothing of importance was done during the evening session.

The Senate was not in session.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Connecticut State election, which took place yesturday, resulted in the success of the Union State ticket, headed by Gov. BUCKINGHAM, by about 3,000 majority. Messrs. DEMING, HUBBARD and BRANDAGEE, Union, and ENGLISH, Democrat, are elected to Congress The Union men will have fifteen out of twenty-one State Senators, and a large majority in the House.

We have advices from Europe two days later by the arrival, at this port, of the steamer City of Cork, which left Liverpool on the 23d ult. The mails by the steamer Canada also arrived yesterday morning, bringing our Paris and London correspondence and our files of papers. The Liverpool Mercury, of the 21st, publishes a rumor—which, however, it is inclined to doubt—that Mr. ADAMS, the American Minister, was about to resign, in consequence of the eagerness of British capitalists to lend money to the rebels. The Mercury also announces that Lord STRATHEDON'S motion in favor of the recognition of the Southern Confederacy, was to be brought before the House of Lords on the following Monday. The aggregate of the subscriptions to the rebel loan in London, Liverpool, Paris, Frankfort and Amsterdam was about fifteen millions sterling. There appears to be no doubt that the announcement of the capture of LANGIEWICZ, the Polish Dictator, is true. The latest telegrams by the City of Cork state that he has been conveyed to the fortress of Cracow. Continued Russian successes against the revolutionists are announced, though, at the same time, the revolution is said to be spreading. The Liverpool cotton market was steady, with a fair demand. Consols, 92¼.

The Board of Councilmen met at 4 o'clock P. M. yesterday. A communication was received from the Street Commissioner, Hon. CHAS. G. CORNELL, reciting the facts of the Battery enlargement undertaking, stating that a balance of $19,718 42 remained of the appropriation made for the work several years ago, and recommending that the Street Department be directed to contract for its completion. The communication was referred to the Law Committee. The Board adjourned to 4 o'clock P. M. on next Monday.

The Twenty-second Ward Loyal League had an interesting mass meeting at the Hall corner of Broadway and Forty-seventh-street, last evening. Mr. H. T. KIERSTED, presided, and stirring speeches were made by Gov. JAS. W. NYE, of Nevada, Rev. ISAAC WESTCOTT, and JOHN SEDGEWICK, Esq. The meeting was brimful of loyalty.

The April term of the Court of Oyer and Terminer was opened yesterday, but no cases were disposed of. The trial of MCCORMICK for the murder of Policeman WILLIAMS, will commence this morning, before Judge INGRAHAM.

The price of Gold was 3 ⅜ cent. lower yesterday than on Saturday. The Stock market firm. Money easy. Exchange 167@169 ⅜ cent.

Transactions in Breadstuffs and Provisions were restricted yesterday, though prices were generally easier and declining. Hay, Sugars, Molasses, Tallow and Whisky were in pretty fair request. Coffee, Teas, Rice, Metals, Oils and Naval Stores were lightly dealt in. Cotton was inactive at reduced rates. The freight engagements were limited.

The Cattle Market opened with a good deal of animation Monday morning. About 3,700 bullocks were yarded at Forty-fourth-street, and as Government agents had orders for about 400, and were buying freely, butchers feared they would be left in the lurch, and so pitched in strong, making one of the liveliest forenoons seen at these yards. Prices were a shade higher, for good cattle, some of which sold at 13c. and upward ₱ lb. Common stock was slow in the afternoon, and the market did not close as well at night as it did last Monday. A few more cattle are expected for to-day.

Gen. McClellan and the Peace Policy.

It will be remembered that the dispatch of Lord LYONS to Earl RUSSELL, respecting his interview with the leaders of what he calls the "Peace party," had the following remarkable juxtaposition:

"They seemed to be persuaded, that the result of the election would be accepted by the Presidet as a declaration of the will of the people; that he would increase the moderate and conservative element in the Cabinet; that he would seek to terminate the war, not to push it to extremity; that he would endeavor to effect a reconciliation with the people of the South, and renounce the idea of subjugating or exterminating them.

On the following morning, however, intelligence arrived from Washington which dashed the rising hopes of the Conservatives. It was announced that Gen. McClellan had been dismissed from the command of the Army of the Potomac, and ordered to repair to his home—that he had, in fact, been removed altogether from active service. The General had been regarded as the representative of conservative principles in the army. Support of him had been made one of the articles of the conservative electoral programme. His dismissal was taken as a sign that the President had thrown himself entirely into the arms of the extreme radical party, and that the attempts to carry out the policy of that party would be persisted in. The irritation of the conservatives at New-York was certainly very great; it seemed, however, to be not unmixed with consternation and despondency."

"The rising hopes" of the Peace Party "dashed," and "consternation and despondency" ensuing, because Gen. MCCLELLAN is removed from the chief command! Was the like ever heard of? An avowedly peace party dismayed at the displacement of a Commanding General. There is but one possible way of accounting for it; and that is that the General was not furthering a war policy, and was secretly in sympathy with the party aiming at peace.

That we verily believe is the key to all the extraordinary procrastination, inefficiency and unmilitary behavior which marked the entire fifteen months' career of GEORGE B. MCCLELLAN as Commander-in-Chief. That alone is the real explanation of his constant study how not to do it, and to misdo it when he was forced to act. He was for harming the enemy as little as possible, and for getting on peaceful terms with him as soon as possible.

One is amazed in carefully perusing the late Report of the Committee on the Conduct of the War, to mark how uniformly Gen. MCCLELLAN displays this disposition, from the very outset of his assumption of the chief command. The Committee have not set this forth in the salient manner it deserved. They confined themselves simply to a digest of the voluminous testimony, and abstained from all deductions and all comments. They left to the readers to take the matter home to themselves in their own way. We believe that it would not have been a departure from their proper functions had they summed up consecutively the shortcomings and misdoings of Gen. MCCLELLAN, as established inevitably by the documents and the military witnesses before them. In default of this, we have taken the pains to go through the whole Report carefully, and select the more important particulars wherein Gen. MCCLELLAN failed to do his duty as the Commanding General, and acted in conformity with a peace rather than a war policy. It is proved by irrefragable evidence

That with 185,000 men, on the 1st of December, he for weeks refrained from advancing upon Manassas, where were less than 70 000 of the enemy, though the roads were hard and the weather most favorable, and in spite of the urgent solicitations of the President;

That during all that time the Potomac remained blockaded, because Gen. MCCLELLAN, though strongly urged by the President, would not send a column to coöperate with the naval vessels in destroying the batteries and clearing the river;

That, in spite of the solicitations of the President, of the Secretary of War, and of the War Committee, and "the opinion of Generals most familar with the subject that it was of the utmost importance," he neglected even to begin the division of his large army into army corps until the 1st of March;

That no provision was made by him during the Winter to properly man the fortifications around Washington, and exercise men in the management of the guns;

That the President, impatient with the long delay, on the 19th of January, issued orders for a general movement of all the armies; that this order not being heeded by Gen. MCCLELLAN, he issued another order twelve days afterward, specifically enjoining an advance movement by the Army of the Potomac before the 22d of February upon Manassas, and thence on to Richmond; that Gen. MCCLELLAN opposed the order, insisting upon the Rappahannock route, and that while he was consuming time in interposing objections, the enemy evacuated Manassas without the loss of a man or a pound of material;

That then MCCLELLAN settled upon the James River route, with the assent of the President on the single condition that such a force should be left in and about Washington "as in the opinion of the General-in-Chief and the commanders of all the army corps should leave said city entirely secure," that these commanders in council concluded that at least 55,000 men were necessary to protect Washington, (30,000 in the forts, and 25,000 as a covering force,) and yet that MCCLELLAN left but 19,000 to protect the Capital and those poorly disciplined, and without any knowledge of artillery;

That MCCLELLAN reached Yorktown on the 5th of April, and on the 9th the President wrote him, saying that "it is indispensable to you that you strike a blow; the present hesitation to move upon an intrenched position is but the story of Manassas repeated," and yet Gen. MCCLELLAN rested one full month before Yorktown, though when he first reached it, it was defended by less than twelve thousand men;

That Gen. MCCLELLAN, instead of directing the movement on to Williamsburgh, remained behind at Yorktown without definitely intrusting the command to any body, and that in consequence the Williamsburgh battle was fought in confusion and at immense disadvantage and loss;

That, after the battle, he arrested pursuit and sent two of the divisions back to Yorktown, though several of the Generals testify that had the enemy been properly followed up Richmond would have been taken at once, and all the subsequent intelligence of the condition of the rebel army and of the rebel capital at that time confirms the fact;

That two weeks were consumed in getting the army from Williamsburgh to the Chickahominy, a distance of only forty or fifty miles;

That on the Chickahominy Gen. MCCLELLAN ordered Gen. CASEY'S division of new and undisciplined troops three-quarters of a mile to the front, at Seven Pines, within six miles of Richmond, left them there for days unsupported, against the urgent remonstrances of Gen. CASEY and Gen. KEYES, and that in consequence they were attacked and overwhelmed with tremendous slaughter;

That, after the successful battle of Fair Oaks, on the next day, according to the testimony of the highest officers, "the army could have pushed straight into Richmond with little resistance," but Gen. MCCLELLAN ordered the troops to be recalled;

That he was continually sending on to Washington for reinforcements, and in particular for McDOWELL'S corps on the Rappahannock, though he knew that the enemy had detached a large force up the Shenandoah, under Stonewall JACKSON, and were threatening Washington, and that the men protecting it were much less than the number originally agreed upon as necessary to its defence;

That, at Gaines' Mill, 27,000 of our troops were set upon by 65,000 of the enemy and badly beaten—all the effect, as testified by high officers, of not keeping the army properly concentrated;

That, when the resolution was taken to retreat to James River, Gen. MCCLELLAN printed an order to destroy all baggage, tents and equipage, and only failed to issue it because other officers remonstrated against it;

That all the seven days' battles were fought in the absence of Gen. MCCLELLAN, and without any directions from him, he confining himself simply to the rôle of placing the troops in the morning, then departing to seek a position for the next day, leaving to the troops to come up to that position as they best might;

That he was also absent at the last great battle of Malvern Hill until all was nearly over, and that, though, according to the testimony of many officers, "the enemy were so severely pushed that they could have been followed into Richmond by vigorous pursuit," yet, instead of advancing, he fell back from Malvern to Harrison's Bar;

That, at the latter place, the entire army was huddled within a space of about three miles along the river, without the least order; were kept so for twenty-four hours, and would in all likelihood have been destroyed but for a very heavy rain which prevented the enemy from bringing up the body of their artillery;

That the Army of the Potomac originally landed on the Peninsula 121,500 men; were subsequently reinforced so as to raise that number to 159,500; that this number, by the time it had reached Harrison's Bar, had been reduced to 102,000 fit for duty; and that Gen. MCCLELLAN telegraphed to Washington for 50,000 men "to be promptly sent" him; when, in fact, as the President replied, all the soldiers under McDOWELL, BANKS, FREMONT, WOOL and DIX, and all in Washington, did not exceed 60,000;

That MCCLELLAN finally agreed to resume an advance movement with a reinforcement of 20,000, but afterward wrote to Washington that he must in addition have another 15,000 or 20,000 from the armies in the Valley of the Mississippi, which was of course impracticable and absurd;

That, on being thereupon ordered to withdraw his army from the Peninsula, "as rapidly as possible," to coöperate with POPE, who was contending with superior forces, he refused to obey until the order had been repeated again and again, involving a delay which put Washington in the most imminent peril;

That after the troops were at last brought up the Potomac, he constantly interposed the most useless delays to giving POPE any help, and that, according to Gen. HALLECK, POPE would have conquered instead of been defeated, had MCCLELLAN acted with all the energy circumstances permitted;

That after Gen. MCCLELLAN had moved from Washington with nearly all of his army into Northern Maryland, to intercept LEE, he wrote to Washington for more reinforcements, saying that "even if Washington should be taken while these armies are confronting each other, this would not, in my judgment, bear comparison with the ruin and disasters which would follow a single defeat of this army;"

That at Antietam the attacks, instead of being made concurrently, were made seriatim, and consequently with great loss and little effect, and that to Gen. BURNSIDE'S urgent request for reinforcements to enable him to hold a very important position he had gained after a terrible struggle, Gen. MCCLELLAN replied that no reinforcements could be sent, although the corps of FITZ JOHN PORTER, of 15,000 or 20,000 men, had not at that time fired a gun, and did not even cross the river during the entire battle;

That, according to the opinion of Gen. BURNSIDE, Gen. FRANKLIN, and other officers, the enemy could have been overwhelmed and destroyed had the attack been renewed next day, but that Gen. MCCLELLAN refrained from all such attack without any good reason, and allowed the enemy to escape;

That, after lying still two weeks, he asked for authority to build a double-track suspension bridge and a permanent wagon bridge across the Potomac at Harper's Ferry, with a view to make that place his great and permanent point of concentration;

That Gen. HALLECK, disregarding this extraordinary request, ordered him, through the President, to cross the Potomac at once, and to advance against the enemy, that he failed to comply, urging that his army needed shoes and other articles of clothing—when it was shown that every requisition had been promptly met—and that the President's order to cross was not fulfilled until four weeks after it had been given;

This last delay was more than even the long-suffering President could endure, and two days after the last corps of the army was again on the south side of the Potomac, Major-Gen. MCCLELLAN was ordered to turn over his command to Major-Gen. BURNSIDE, and repair to Trenton, New-Jersey. For a wonder, he obeyed this last order without pleading inadequacy of means, and demanding reinforcements.

The persistent efforts to strip the National Capital of the necessary protection—the repeated failures to seize the rebel capital when the opportunity presented itself—the uniformly tardy and sluggish movement—the constant avoidance of attack on his own part so long as there was any alternative—the frequent disposal of his forces in a way expressly calculated, it would seem, to invite a damaging attack by the enemy—the uniform refusal to allow the enemy to be pursued when beaten, all point in one direction—which is, that Gen. MCCLELLAN meant peace with the rebels, and not war against them.

There is not such another record of dereliction and inefficiency in all military history; and it will stand alike a marvel and a derision to future generations.

THE SOUTHERN TRADE.—The Secretary of the Treasury has just issued a circular regulating commercial intercourse with the insurrectionary States, intended to supersede the regulations which have been in force since August last. The bearings of these regulations upon our military and naval forces in all sections of the South and on its coast are set forth in orders from the Secretaries of War and the Navy. We publish the important circular of Secretary CHASE in full, for the information of all such as have or may have commercial or business relations with those sections of the South which have been opened up to trade and intercourse; and for the guidance of officers and soldiers of the army we also give the order of Secretary STANTON. The order of Secretary WELLES is analogous to the latter, except in the substitution of naval for military terms and designations, and therefore it is unnecessary to give it.

These regulations are based upon a wider experience than those heretofore in force, and are in several respects more liberal and just. They are as concise as possible, and bear upon all relations of the subject. It will be noticed that the employment of gold in the purchase of cotton is forbidden.

It will be seen by the order of the Secretary of War, that military officers are strictly forbidden to take any part in cotton trading, or trading of any kind, with the inhabitants of the region where they may be in command. It would be well if there were some pains taken to enforce this order, and some exemplary punishments meted out to those who attempt to evade it. The conduct of some of our Generals, especially in the Southwest, has been anything but honorable or soldierly in this matter.

These regulations of Mr. CHASE will, doubtless, be taken advantage of by many merchants of the East and the West. The trade with the insurrectionary districts opened up by our arms has not in all cases proved as lucrative as it was thought it would be; but, on the whole, it has not been a bad venture. It is continually extending its scope and widening its range, and it must still do so as additional States and regions fall under our arms, until the whole South is embraced.

CHARLESTON.—The letter of our Port Royal correspondent will add likelihood to the statements and rumors that have reached us from the South, that the advance upon Charleston has at last commenced. On Monday night of last week, all the troops and transports at Port Royal were ready to start, and a greater part of the iron-clads, as also a brigade of troops, had already left for the rendezvous. The Richmond Dispatch, of the 3d, announced the arrival of these troops and Monitors on Seabrook's or John's Island, which is just above the mouth of North Edisto River, to the south of Charleston harbor.

Our correspondent represents that our troops and marines were in high enthusiasm, anxious to measure strength with the rebels in their old original den. This is very gratifying to learn, after the accounts we have had of dissension and ill-feeling in that Department on account of the quarrel between Gens. HUNTER and FOSTER. But the fact is our soldiers everywhere are too deeply impressed with the greatness and sublimity of the cause for which they do battle to pay attention to questions of military etiquette or listen to quarrels about the precedence of Generals, when there is a chance to meet the foe.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The first performance of the new opera of "Ione," at this establishment last night was a decided success. An extended notice of it is deferred. The opera will be repeated on Wednesday.

TOM THUMB IN BROOKLYN.—Gen. TOM THUMB and wife will hold their levées at the Atheneum, today, commencing at 11 A. M. They will exhibit their bridal presents, wear their marriage dresses, and otherwise demean themselves as at Irving Hall, New-York, during the past week.

CHARLESTON.

The Reported Demonstration of Our Force

Charleston Papers Said to Acknowledge an Attack.

Dispatches received from Fortress Monroe state that Charleston papers have been received there.

They acknowledge that the attack by the Federal army and navy upon that city had been commenced, but contain nothing indicating whether the movements of our forces have met with success or otherwise. It is fair to infer that if the latter had been the case they would have announced it.

It is generally believed in official quarters that no reverse has been sustained by our troops or our fleet, and there is the best reason to believe that the loyal North will soon be electrified by the gratifying announcement of the capture and occupation of Charleston.

NO NEWS IN WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Monday, April 6.

Up to 1 o'clock this afternoon the Government had received no intelligence regarding the state of affairs off Charleston other than what has already been published from the Richmond papers of Saturday.

THE LATEST REBEL DISPATCH.

The following dispatch is from the Richmond Examiner of Saturday:

CHARLESTON, Thursday, April 2.

There are no signs thus far of the expected attack. There has been no landing in force on any of the Islands below, as reported. The skirmish on Seabrook's Island was between a few independent scouts and a scouting party from a Yankee gunboat.

Another Anglo-Rebel Steamer Captured.--Unfortunate Accident to Chief Quartermaster Elwell.

From Our Special Correspondent.

PORT ROYAL, Monday Evening, March 30, 1863.

There seems to be no longer room for doubting that the departure of the land and naval forces for Charleston or Savannah will take place before the end of the present week. Nothing more in the way of preparation remains to be done. The transports are all supplied with coal, water and commissary stores; the troops, well up in the rôle of embarking and disembarking, can be moved promptly, and impatiently await the order which will send them on board; the immense supplies of provisions, ordnance stores, forage, and all other things required for the use of a large army, have been shipped upon the fleet of schooners that goes with the expedition; and the heads of the departments, upon whom have devolved the Titanic labor of organizing the men, material and transportation, breathe freely in experiencing relief at the relaxation of the long strain upon their energies. For the last few days we have fallen upon the quiet time which—the bustle and business of preparation over—presages the coming storm.

Already a brigade of troops has gone to a rendezvous, conveniently near the place of expected operations, and most of the Monitors have followed them, leaving only three at this point, which are now pitching restively at their anchorage, in the teeth of a heavy "norther," as if eager to dart out of the harbor to do battle. Admiral DUPONT has received from the North everything that he expected, and that the recent experiments of the iron-clads demonstrated was necessary to their efficiency, and after a thorough glance at the situation I can only reassert that our departure hence upon a mission of unparalleled importance and difficulty is imminent beyond a peradventure.

It is gratifying thing to observe that as the time for action draws near the brave men who are ready to lay down their lives for the Nation, revive in heart and hope. A few weeks since almost everybody, when questioned upon the chances of success, shook his head ominously and spoke of the disastrous campaign of last Summer on James Island. Now all such despondency has disappeared. It is superseded by enthusiasm and earnest confidence. Especially does it do one good to listen to the cheery talk of the officers and men on board the iron-clads. They, heroes every one, suffer untold misery in their bomb-proof boxes. What with impure air and existing in dark, damp and contracted quarters, destructive alike to health and comfort, compelled to sacrifice every consideration to the imperious Moloch invulnerability, among them, if anywhere, we should look for doubtings of success. But they are the most sanguine of all. In their bright Lexicon there is no such word as fail, and if confidence is half the battle and determination makes up the other half, there can be no question on which side will be the victory.

The only item of news since I last wrote is the arrival here of another Anglo-rebel steamer—the Aries She is a new vessel, about the size of most of the blockade runners that have been captured recently, and is said to be filled with a cargo of coffee, salt, and pig lead, which are commodities the rebels need pressingly. Her fortunate captor is the gunboat Stettin, herself a prize, now fitted as a war vessel. The Aries attempted to get into Bull's Bay, S.C., where the Stettin was blockading, and fell an easy victim to the vigilance of the gunboat, although she had decreased the chance of being seen by unstepping both her masts, and placing them upon deck.

A very distressing accident happened this afternoon to Lieut.-Col. J. J. ELWELL, Chief-Quartermaster of the Department. His horse stumbled and fell upon him, causing a fracture of his right leg below the knee. The accident at this time is doubly unfortunate and perplexing, as upon the proper performance of the duties of Col. ELWELL'S depends, in a great degree, the harmonious working of every branch of the other arrangements of the coming movement.

IMPORTANT FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

A Battle Supposed to have been Fought by Gen. Foster.

WASHINGTON, Monday, April 6.

Official information received here states that the rebels have a large force at Washington, North Carolina, and the belief is expressed in the same dispatch, that about the 31st of March Gen. FOSTER was engaged in fighting them.

The Prize Steamer Aries.

The Aries, prize steamer, which arrived here yesterday en route to Boston, is the identical vessel that was convoyed out of a neutral port by a British man-of-war. She is a very useful steamer, of medium tonnage, and was built in England by JAMES LANG. She escaped with a cargo recently from Charleston, which port she reached through the aid of a rebel pilot sent over to Sutherland. She is a prize to the Stettin. The Aries had a ship's company of twenty-four men, besides four passengers—Spaniards—who professed to own the cargo, and a pilot, SIMPSON ADKINS, well known in New-York as formerly on the steamer Marion, in the New-York and Charleston trade. This ADKINS and the Spaniards are now prisoners on board the steamer Bibb.

LATE REBEL NEWS.

A National Reconnoissance up the Yazoo.

AFFAIRS IN TENNESSEE.

WASHINGTON, Monday, April 6.

The Richmond Examiner of Saturday, received here to-day, contains the following:

VICKSBURGH, Thursday, April 2.

The enemy made a reconnoissance up the Yazoo yesterday, and threw a few shells at Snicker's Bluff. There is nothing in sight below.

CHATTANOOGA, Thursday, April 2.

The gunboats on the Tennessee have been driven back by our sharpshooters. The iron-clads attempted to land at Tuscumbia this morning at daylight, and were attacked by our cavalry outposts. A heavy cannonading ensued, but without effect. Unsuccessful efforts were made to land a party, and the iron-clads backed down the river. There has been no battle in front. Heavy skirmishing has been going on at McMinnville.

NEWS FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

Arrival of Exchanged Prisoners—Rebel Cavalrymen Deserting from Wise's Command—A Lack of Food the Cause—Richmond to be Evacuated.

FORTRESS MONROE, Saturday, April 4.

The propeller Virginia, Capt. W. H. SNYDER, arrived this forenoon from New-York.

The steamboat Express, from City Point, also arrived to-day, with 286 prisoners of war, 43 citizen prisoners and 14 released and exchanged Federal officers, captured at Hartsville, Tenn., Dec. 7, 1863.

FORTRESS MONROE, Sunday, April 5.

Twelve rebel cavalrymen, with their horses and equipments, arrived here, to-day, on the Yorktown boat. They had deserted from WISE'S legion, and came within our lines at Williamsburgh yesterday. They report that their whole company is coming in as soon as an opportunity is presented, and that the destitution of food is the cause of their deserting; that their troops cannot endure the want of food and clothing much longer, and for that reason Richmond is soon to be evacuated.

The State of Maine left here at noon to-day for City Point, with 600 rebel prisoners for exchange, in charge of Capt. JOHN E. MULFORD.

The steamtug Freeborn left this morning to relieve the steamer ashore at Cedar Island. No assistance could be sent sooner, from the severity of the storm.

The schooner E. W. Perry, laden with Government coal, from Philadelphia, bound to Newbern, N. C., put into Hampton Roads, having her rails carried away.

The British frigate Rinaldo sailed from Hampton Roads to-day.

The flag of truce boat Long Island arrived this morning from City Point. She brings no released prisoners.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Monday, April 6.

OUR RELATIONS WITH GREAT BRITAIN.

The mails by the British steamer, expected here with considerable anxiety, did not arrive. It is needless to disguise the fact that to some of the most prudent and intelligent statesmen connected with the Government, our relations with Great Britain seem to be more precarious than they have at any time been since the Trent affair.

DEPUTY REVENUE COMMISSIONER.

Hon. EDWARD MCPHERSON, member of the last House, to-day entered on the duties of the office of Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

RETURNED DESERTERS.

The number of deserters who have thus far reported at Camp Convalescent, under the President's proclamation, is 936.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Monday, April 6.

LETTERS-OF-MARQUE.

It is believed that no difficulty exists with the Administration on the subject of letters-of-marque and reprisal. The importance of the question is well understood. When occasion demands, there is no question that the President will exercise the power in the premises authorized by the act of Congress.

NO RESPONSE FROM THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT.

The State Department had not, up to yesterday, received any official response to the Secretary's letter declining the peace propositions of the French Government.

ARMY ORDERS.

Brig.-Gen. WELSH has been ordered to report for duty to Maj.-Gen. BURNSIDE, and Gen. PITCHER to Maj.-Gen. HOOKER. Maj. L. HISS and Capts. SUMNER and ANDENRIED, Aides-de-Camp to the late Gen. SUMNER, have been assigned to duty with Gen. WOOL.

THE DISTRICT COURT.

On the opening of the new Court to-day, Chief Justice CARTER charged the Grand Jury, especially in relation to the law for the prevention of frauds on the Government, and that for the punishment of treason. In regard to the latter, he said their careful consideration of this statute was demanded by the times, and by the place in which they were called on to aid in the administration of the Constitution and laws. This city, he said, stands on the border line between the loyal and disloyal States. There are still left among us many who, if they are in any sense loyal, love their country with a divided heart. There are some among us, it is feared, who are traitors; there are others who aid and comfort the rebellion. It is, therefore, of the utmost importance to the whole country that the Capital of the nation should be free of any taint of disloyalty. It is an important step toward restoring the public peace and tranquillity that all who aid and assist the enemy should discontinue their offences or be punished according to the law of the land. The faithful performance of your duty in making inquiry into all such offences will be no less honorable to yourselves than important to the country.

The Indians of the West and the White Men of the East.

Maj. COLLEY, United States Indian Agent, has addressed the following letter to Mr. BARNUM, of the Museum. That gentleman, hearing of the presence of the Indian Chiefs in Washington, whither they had gone on matters of business connected with the Government, wrote to Maj. COLLEY, inviting to this City these distinguished representatives of the aborigines, promising them valuable presents and courteous treatment during their stay. As will be seen by the following letter, Maj. COLLEY has acceded to the proposition, and the war party of the West will soon make their bows to the white men of the East.

LETTER FROM MAJOR COLLEY.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 4, 1863.

DEAR SIR: I have received yours of yesterday. In reply I would state that I am willing to comply with your request. The argument you use—that an opportunity should be afforded them to see New-York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, &c.—I admit to be right and just. These great Indian Chiefs under my care, noble and brave as they are, are also very poor. The presents which you assures me they will receive will be most acceptable to them. Those given to them by the public as well as by yourself, will please them beyond my power to express. You are most likely aware that in this respect they resemble children. Indeed, their child-like simplicity, combined with their prowess and their wisdom, offers a curious study to those not acquainted with Indian character. The twenty chiefs and their squaws include the pick of the following tribes: the Cheyennes, Kiowas, Apaches, Arrapahoes, Caddos and Comanches. I will give you a few of their names. Among them are Lone Wolf, Yellow Buffalo, White Bear, Little Hart, and the squaws Kitty and Coy, all belonging to the Kiowas. Then there are War-Bonnet, Stand-in-the-Water, Lean Bear, Poor Bear, Spotted Wolf, Pricked Forehead, and Ten Bears. Their names may sound oddly to you, but you will find the bearers of them to be very pleasant fellows. As they never slept on beds, I must trouble you to procure rooms where they can spread out their blankets and sleep on the floor. You will also please procure bread, raw beef and coffee, all of which they will cook in their own rude Indian style. They will also want some paints and some oil, which can be easily got. I hope to have them in your Museum on or before Wednesday next, the 8th inst. As you may guess, however, all our forms of civilized life are irksome to them, and to be confined in city lodgings is injurious to them while here. So I cannot promise you that they will be contented to remain beyond a few days. I am sure they will prove very interesting; for Indian warriors of their rank, so very recently arrived from their own homes, have not been seen in any of our great cities for many years—if, indeed, at all. The interpreter and myself will accompany them to New-York; and I feel certain that they will be well treated, and everything done to make them happy. Your visitors, in addressing them, will, of course, bear in mind that, though poor according to our ideas of wealth, they are most influential in their own country, and are the bravest, best and wisest of their tribes.

I am, dear Sir, yours, truly,

S. G. COLLEY, U. S. Indian Agent.

Which are the evidences of

LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA.

It is estimated that seven-tenths of all adult ailments proceed from a diseased and torpid liver. The biliary secretions of the liver overflowing into the stomach poison the entire system and exhibit the above symptoms.

After long research, we are able to present the most remarkable cure for these horrid nightmare diseases the world has ever produced. Within one year, over six hundred and forty thousand persons have taken the Plantation Bitters, and not an instance of complaint has come to our knowledge!

It is a most effectual tonic and agreeable stimulant, suited to all conditions of life.

The reports that it relies upon mineral substances for its active properties, are wholly false. For the public satisfaction, and that patients may consult their physicians, we append a list of its components.

CALISAYA BARK—Celebrated for over two hundred years in the treatment of Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Weakness, &c. It was introduced into Europe by the Countess, wife of the Viceroy of Peru, in 1640, and afterwards sold by the Jesuits for the enormous price of its own weight in silver, under the name of Jesuit's Powders, and was finally made public by Louis XVI., King of France. Humboldt makes especial reference to its febrifuge qualities during his South American travels.

CASCARILLA BARK—For diarrhea, colic and diseases of the stomach and bowels.

DANDELION—For inflammation of the loins and dropsical affections.

CAMOMILE FLOWERS—For enfeebled digestion.

LAVENDER FLOWERS—Aromatic, stimulant and tonic—highly invigorating in nervous debility.

WINTERGREEN—For scrofula, rheumatism, &c.

ANISE—An aromatic carminative; creating flesh, muscle and milk; much used by mothers nursing.

Also, clove-buds, orange, carraway, coriander, snake-root, &c.

S. T.—1860—X.

Another wonderful ingredient, of Spanish origin, imparting beauty to the complexion and brilliancy to the mind, is yet unknown to the commerce of the world, and we withhold its name for the present.

Resolved, That we unitedly and heartily approve of, and recommend the practice of said system, as promotive of both health and happiness.

CAUTION TO LADIES.

Madame RESTELL, Female Physician, No. 162 Chambers-street, deems it her duty to caution ladies against impostors, who appropriate her advertisements, word for word, merely substituting some ignorant and wholly irresponsible person as "Madame."

That ladies may avoid these impositions, Madame Restell feels called upon to give this caution.

DR. JOHNSON, NO. 14 DUANE-ST., MAY be consulted with confidence on private diseases. Thirty years in one specialty enables him to guarantee speedy and permanent cures. N. B.—Those who may have been misled by quack advertisements, nostrums, &c., can call on Dr. J. with the certainty of receiving honorable treatment.

PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—DR. HUNTER has, for thirty years, confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated no less than fifty thousand cases, without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases, when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb, unless this remedy is used. That is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become so well known, that scientific men in every department of medical knowledge begin to appreciate it, for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians, in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. Its popularity is so great, that there is not a quack doctor in the city that has not attacked it; and when they find their lies are not so easily swallowed, they then pretend that they can make it. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for 15 three-cent stamps, 300 pages, 100 colored illustrations. The best work out.

MONDAY, April 6—P. M.

The Weekly Averages of the Banks of the City of New-York, on Saturday, April 4, 1863, present in the aggregate the following changes from the previous exhibit of March 28 :

Decrease in Loans	$589,493
Decrease in Specie	60,570
Decrease in Circulation	212,508
Decrease in Undrawn Deposits	2,838,428

Including the Clearing-house operations of the week, which show the inter-exchanges between the Banks, and including also the Sub-Treasury balance at the close of the week, the following is the general comparison with the previous exhibit, and also with the movement this time last season :

	April 5, 1862.	April 4, 1863.	March 28, 1863.
Capital	$69,051,000	$69,128,000	$69,128,000
Loans	124,477,484	173,038,019	172,448,526
Specie	33,704,382	34,257,121	34,317,691
Circulation	7,699,641	8,348,094	8,560,602
Gross Deposits	112,578,197	208,417,712	210,251,555
Exchanged	17,495,372	47,891,284	46,887,709
Undrawn	94,082,625	160,525,428	163,363,846
In Sub-Treasury	5,858,591	11,816,411	18,391,948

The Bank return shows a pretty steady movement in Loans and Specie. The Deposits are drawn down nearly three millions by the conversion of United States Notes into the 6 ₱ cent. Stock of 1882. The Loan Agent at Philadelphia reports that conversions last week reached the large figure of eight millions. A portion of the deposits in Bank have also been transferred to the Treasury on 5 ₱ cent. interest. The market for Money is very easy at 6 ₱ cent. to the Brokers. The Foreign Exchanges are unsettled for the Cunard mail of Wednesday by the decline this morning of 3 ₱ cent. in Gold Coin. The rates on London for first-class Bankers' are about 167@169 ₱ cent.

The Stock Exchange was generally firmer on the Share list at the early Regular Board this morning, and very decidedly so in the afternoon. The excitement in Harlem Shares has somewhat abated since the heavy sales of Saturday in realization of profits by a portion of the Bull interest, but the price yields but slightly to-day, and the impression seems to be that the movement is not yet done with. A renewed speculative demand was noticed to-day in Michigan Southern old Shares, the price advancing to 63 ₱ cent. Pacific Mail sold as high as 96 ₱ cent., cash, in the morning, but subsequently returned to 93 ₱ cent. The demand for Hudson River continued firm. New-York Central and Erie dull in the morning but better at the Second Board. There was no particular change in Government securities. The Railway Bonds steady.

At 4 o'clock, the General Market was firm. The price of Gold left off 152¼@½ ₱ cent., after selling as low as 150 and as high as 153 through the day. The sales of the New Loan of 1882, by conversion of United States Notes at par, amount in this city, to-day, to $700,000.

The following are the official figures of the Foreign Trade of the United States for the last Fiscal Year ending June 30, 1862 :

EXPORTS—Domestic produce		$161,875,968
Foreign produce		11,027,336
Specie		36,886,956	$229,790,280
IMPORTS—Dutiable		$136,683,123
Free goods		52,721,548
Specie		16,415,052	-$205,819,823
Apparent balance			$23,970,457

The increase of the Foreign Trade for the current Fiscal Year, to end on June 30, 1863, may be fairly estimated from the fact that up to the present date, (nine months and a few days,) the gain at the port of New-York on last year's business is :

On the Export side	$78,875,081
On the Import side	44,575,124

There would appear to be every probability that the Export Trade of this year will reach $320,000,000, and that the Import Trade—exclusive of American Stocks and Bonds taken back and paid for in gold, through last Summer and Fall—will closely approach $280,000,000.

The Police Clerk Question—The Affair a Local One Under the Old Constitution.

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM.

Before Justices Sutherland, Ingraham, and Clerke.

John C. Devoy vs. The Mayor, &c.—This was an action by the plaintiff as assignee of one Bouton, a Police Clerk, appointed under the Act of 1853, by the Mayor and Aldermen. The claim was for salary alleged to have been due Bouton, and which was the subject of the assignment.

The defence was that the passage of the Metropolitan Police Act rendered the appointment of Bouton void, and, of course, invalidated the claim in suit.

The Court, on the first trial, sustained the defence, and dismissed the complaint.

The case was appealed, and the General Term reversed the judgment and ordered a new trial, holding that the office held by Bouton was a local office under the old Constitution, and remained such under the new, and that the power to fill it could not be vested in the State officers or in any other manner than was provided in the Constitution.

The new trial resulted in favor of the plaintiff, and appeal was again taken.

The following is the opinion of Justice INGRAHAM thereon :

INGRAHAM, J.—The question raised in this case was examined and decided in the Common Pleas, in Canniff vs. The Mayor, &c. (4 E. D. Smith, 430.) It was there held that under the act of 1851 the Supervisors might fix the salary of the Clerk of a Police Court, and that he could recover the same from the defendants. The same rule would apply to a subsequent increase of salary, more especially if such increase was in pursuance of an act of the Legislature, or subsequently ratified by them. The change of the appointing from the defendant to the Board of Police did not relieve them from liability to pay whatever they were bound to pay before.

The same principle was stated by Nelson C. J., in Lynch vs. the Mayor, &c., (25 Wend., P. P. 680, 685,) in which the Judges of the Sessions sought to recover from the defendants the salary given by the statute. He says : "This was a legal duty enjoined by competent authority, which the Corporation are bound to discharge. It is as binding on them as if entered into under their Corporation seal." These cases are so exclusive on this question that no further examination is necessary.

Judgment affirmed, with costs.

Action Against the Harlem Railroad for Causing the Death of a Husband.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM.

Before Justice Robertson.

Ann S. McKeen, Administratrix, &c. vs. The New-York and Harlem Railroad Company.—The plaintiff sued as administratrix of Thomas McKeen, deceased, her late husband, to recover of the defendants for causing his death.

The complaint alleged that on the 22d day of September, 1860, the defendants' agents engaged in running the cars of the Harlem Road, while passing through Fordham, ran a train against the horse and carriage of deceased, and so injured him that his death ensued. Negligence of the defendants was alleged as the cause of the accident.

The defence set up was that the carelessness was all on the part of the deceased. Case still on.

Shaffer and Huff for plaintiff ; C. W. Sanford for defendants.

HAVE THEIR HEADS EXAMINED.—The papers say "There are a precious lot of rogues in Albany, trying to cheat our City, by obtaining railway grants worth millions, for little or nothing." Then why not have their heads examined, and their true characters exposed to public view, and their fraudulent acts revoked? It is the mission of PHRENOLOGY to point out "who is who," and it will mark the knave or the fool. In the language of Nathan, it will speak in italics, "Thou art the man." Our Legislatures want "weeding," and Phrenology is the means by which the tares may be separated from the wheat. Who is the patriot, and who the robber and the traitor? Messrs. FOWLER & WELLS, No. 308 Broadway, have had considerable experience in this interesting science.
